

Dr. Åsa Eldén has a PhD in sociology from Uppsala University, Sweden (2003). She was a recurring part time faculty at the Department of Sociology, Boğaziçi University, Istanbul between 2006 and 2013, a Senior Researcher at the Swedish Research Institute in Istanbul 2010-2013 and a Visiting Senior Researcher at Stockholm University Institute for Turkish Studies 2017-2018. Åsa Eldén has also been a special investigator for the Swedish government in the “Review of Action to Combat Violence against Women”, and Lead/Senior Policy Specialist for Gender Equality at the Swedish International Development Cooperation Agency (Sida). Today she works as a senior consultant and researcher, and is affiliated to Örebro University, Sweden.

Selected publications:

- Sextortion: Corruption and Gender-Based Violence (2020) Expert Group for Aid Studies (EBA). Report 2020:6 (with Dolores Calvo, Elin Bjarnegård, Silje Lundgren & Sofia Jonsson)
- “Narrating Experience: Rethinking Gender, Violence, Family and Media in Contemporary Turkey. An Introduction” (2020) European Journal for Turkish Studies (ed. with Berna Ekal)
- “From Icons to Emblematic Cases. The Media and Murders of Women in Turkey” (2015) Middle East Journal of Culture and Communication 8 (2015):124-145 (with Berna Ekal)
- “Men’s Violence – Women’s Responsibility. Mothers’ Stories about Honour Violence” (2010) Idris, Mohammed Mazher & Abbas Tahir (ed) Honour and Violence, London: Routledge.